Dear Friends,

It is my pleasure to congratulate the Arizona Jewish Post on its 70th anniversary this year.

As a member of the American Jewish Press Association, surely this impressive newspaper deserves special recognition for the exemplary publication it provides to its readers and its community in Tucson, Arizona.

Again, congratulations on your 70th anniversary celebration and best wishes in future endeavors.

Sincerely,

John McCain

I extend my congratulations to the Advisory Board and staff of the Arizona Jewish Post on the 70th anniversary of this publication. In today's digital era, this is a significant accomplishment. I commend the Jewish Federation of Southern Arizona for its long-standing commitment to AJP's readership.

A lot has changed in our community since 1946, but the Arizona Jewish Post has held firm in its independent and knowledgeable presentation of news. From a local to world perspective, AJP provides information that is of interest to our Jewish residents. No other local publication is dedicated to this population. We are fortunate to have this vibrant, focused newspaper in Tucson.

I wish you much success in the future. May you continue to serve your readers and operate in the light of truth.

I am pleased to congratulate the Arizona Jewish Post on their 70th anniversary. I offer my best wishes for many more years of continued success. Since 1946, the Arizona Jewish Post has been bringing award-winning journalism to the Jewish communities of Southern Arizona. Their unique perspectives and insightful commentaries on a wide array of local and international events has earned them national recognitions by the American Jewish Association, as well as locally by the Arizona Newspapers Association, Arizona Press Club and the Arizona Press Women for their work.

Despite its scope of coverage, the Arizona Jewish Post continues to show its commitment to Southern Arizona as a member of Local First Arizona by keeping their reporting local. From my work in the U.S. House of Representatives I know how hard it is to balance the local with the global, but I also know the tremendous rewards it generates for the people of Arizona.

In this era of consolidation and national companies, seventy years is a long time for a local newspaper to exist. I applaud the Arizona Jewish Post for bringing the world to Tucson and I appreciate the Arizona Jewish Post's service to this community.

I, along with the rest of your readers, wish the staff of the Arizona Jewish Post a prosperous and successful future. Once again congratulations and thank you for your efforts.

Sincerely,

Raúl M. Grijalva

Dear Arizona Jewish Post,

I am pleased to say mazel tov on your 70th anniversary of publication.

Your success is evident over your 70 years, and you have truly earned the numerous awards you have received. It is incredible to see a local newspaper like yours succeed and continue to provide consistent, independent, and knowledgeable coverage of world and local news to the Tucson Jewish community. I am pleased to see such a remarkable publication thriving in the heart of the Second District.

The Arizona Jewish Post's impact reaches beyond the newsprint and out into the community. As a member of Local First Arizona, you have encouraged many to support local businesses and have been part of building a more vibrant and sustainable economy in Southern Arizona. These activities speak to your organization's depth of support for our community that is crucial to the growth and health of the local community.

Few organizations have remained in operation as long as the Arizona Jewish Post, and even fewer have found such success. I offer my sincere congratulations on your 70th anniversary of publication and I wish you success in what is sure to be a very bright future.

Sincerely,

Martha McSally
