Dear Ms. Braun,

I'm writing to congratulate you on celebrating the 70th anniversary of your first publication. Your newspaper has served this region well since 1946, and the Town of Marana is grateful for your contributions to journalism in southern Arizona.

The Jewish community in this region has enjoyed a long history of civic engagement and service. The Arizona Jewish Post has facilitated these contributions by providing reliable and relevant news on local, national, and international issues.

When the Tucson Jewish Community Council purchased this newspaper in 1965, its president, Marvin H. Volk, promised to keep the AJP "a newspaper which stands independent, and operates in the light of truth, ... which properly serves its readers and its community." In all the years since that time, you have stayed true to that promise, and for that I commend you.

Congratulations on this accomplishment, I look forward to reading your pages for many more years.

Sincerely,

Ed Honea
